ProQuest (<http://www.proquest.com>) is a preeminent global distributor of aggregated, web-based research resources to the global library market. With a family of products including ProQuest, Ex Libris, Serials Solutions, Ulrichs, ebrary and EBL; we maintain partnerships with over 10000 publishers who rely on us to expand the reach of their publications into markets they might not otherwise be able to access and by extension to increase discovery of their content without investment needed on their part. All we require from you is complimentary access to, or a feed of, your content in an electronic format. We ask for a worldwide non-exclusive license to reproduce your content within our databases and can offer you the following benefits from a partnership with ProQuest:

- High-quality indexing and abstracting making your content more discoverable and more easily cross-searchable with other relevant content;
- Raising awareness of your content through your logo and website link on all your content;
- Assurance of copyright compliance with a copyright statement on all your content;
- Access to the global library market;
- Inclusion in all products and services relevant to your content, not just the Full Text databases.
